MARCH PROGRAM Displaying & Marketing Your Pots

by Susan Luster

Merchandising professional and stained glass artist Deborah Rodgers will present a variety of ways to show your pots to sell at craft shows. She will set up a mock display with elements for indoors and outdoors, discuss signage and other visual components. She has brought her two areas of expertise together to help several artists present their work in ways that help increase sales.

TPG NOMINATING COMMITTEE REQUEST

We are looking for candidates for Vice President and Treasurer to serve during 2011-2012. If you are interested in one of these positions or would like to suggest a candidate, please contact one of the committee members. They are Alice DeLisle (chair), Martin Stankus and Carol Clark.
Thanks,
Alice DeLisle

MEETING MINUTES

TPG February 2011 Business Meeting

Recorded by: Joanne Wood

Vice President Susan Luster welcomed new members and visitors.

Minutes: Joanne Wood stood in for Recording Secretary Neal O'Briant who was not in attendance and asked if anyone had changes to the minutes from January as posted in the newsletter. Minutes were approved.

Corresponding Secretary's Report: Joanne Wood reported that the new membership directory was sent to members and she requested any changes be sent to her.

Library Report: Christina Sydor reported that Edge Barnes had completed scanning the books from Audrey Heatwole's library. Christina will finish cataloging the others manually and will get with the Webmaster to put the library information on the TPG web page.

Treasurer's Report: Lauren Brockman reported that the membership goal had been met and that the "family" category membership had increased which created more revenue. Lauren stated that Leah Decker, winner of the drawing for the $100 Highwater Clay gift certificate for her donation of bowls to the Stone Soup project in 2010 was presented her certificate at the meeting. Lauren requested and received member suggestions for anyone who had knowledge regarding non profit tax laws.

Webmaster's Report: Gail Lawson announced that she had added the new membership listing to the TPG website. She encouraged members who would like their own web page on the TPG website to view the website and send to her email address information that they'd like posted about themselves as well as 3 large to 6 small photos. More information will be included in the next newsletter. Gail also discussed the Tails at Twilight event and asked those who had volunteered pots to bring them to the March meeting. A form was given to the participants to complete and bring with the pots.
Urban Ministries: Donna Kanich announced that she was stepping down as the guild's coordinator for the event after five years. A new coordinator is needed this year.
Workshop: Donna Kanich reported emails were sent to paid participants for the Ellen Shankin workshop March 25-27. Anyone who signed up for the workshop but did not receive an email should contact Donna.

Additional announcement:

Susan announced that the NC Pottery Collectors Guild would meet on Friday, Feb 4 at 7 pm.

Refreshments: Susan thanked Cheryl Weisz for bringing refreshments. Lauren Brockman volunteered to bring refreshments to the March meeting.

New Business: Alice DeLisle announced that she is Chairing the nominating committee. New Officers needed are Vice President and Treasurer. She requested that anyone interested in these offices or wanting to be on the nominating committee should contact her.

Martin Stankus announced that the event Planet Earth will be held in Raleigh at the Capital Grounds on Saturday, April 16, from 11 – 5. Participants have used Guild shelves in the past. There is no fee and members use the Guild's centralized checkout. Martin also announced that Artsposure will be held May 21 and 22 this year. He will provide more information at the next meeting.

Jay Levine requested donations for the Freshwater Mollusk Conservation Society's auction at their biannual conference. Fish themes are welcome as are all other donations. Donations may be left at the NC State Craft Center with Jay's name on the container.

Program: This evening's program is a Roundtable Discussion on Electric Kilns. Susan Luster presented the TPG Member panel. Mary Ann Purser focused on the bisque process, Cindy Aldrich on Glaze firing, and Andi Dees on electric kiln troubleshooting and maintenance.

Mary Ann highly recommends getting to know your kiln company's technicians and asking questions. Some tips from the tech were that the temp that pieces are bisqued to affects glaze application, the higher the temp the tighter the pores which lessens water absorption when applying glazes; thermocouples are great but use cones to check problem spots; keep open spaces around edges of shelves to keep heat from reflecting back to the elements.

Cindy changes elements once a year; she upgraded to a new programmable kiln and uses cone packs to determine when the firing is done. She uses taller posts at the bottom to compensate for cooler temps there.

Andi Dees troubleshoots all kilns at Jordan Hall; for safety reasons, she suggests adding a timer if electric kiln doesn't have one. Regular maintenance should include vacuuming kiln elements; to change all elements if one is changed to avoid hot spots; change thermocouple when changing elements; test fire with cone pack; check for air leaks...1/4 inch space allows heat to escape and should be filled with fiber; tighten all bands periodically. In response during the question and answer segment, Andi also suggested performing the "paper test" if the kiln is firing unevenly or taking a longer time than anticipated ... offset pieces of paper on each element, turn on kiln, turn off lights and watch to see how the paper ignites to determine if all elements are firing properly.

The meeting was adjourned.

Kiln Wash Recipe from Cindy Aldrich

Here is the kiln wash recipe I use. This allows you to flip your kiln shelves frequently to prevent warping. It really works! There are lots of other recipes out there so if you don't like this one try others.

Kiln Wash
20% ball clay
80% Alumina Hydrate

I sand the old wash off the shelves - VERY easy, wipe them with a damp sponge, flip to new side and put one thin coat of kiln wash on them. Please note that the alumina hydrate doesn't dissolve in water so stir it frequently. This recipe is not as good as traditional kiln wash for allowing you to easily remove glaze drips but they can still be removed. As I sand the shelves I save the old alumina from them and just pour it into the container of kiln wash - recycling!!

MEMBER NEWS

Theresa Glisson, Martin Stankus and Emily Lees have pieces featured in the latest 500 series book recently released by Lark

Publications titled 500 Raku Pots.

Theresa's piece is on page 226 and Martin's is on 227 – quite a coincidence that out of 500 pieces, these TPG members happen to have their photos across from each other.

Alice DeLisle is participating in the Piedmont Craftsmen New Members Show, Mar 4-28, 2011. The Piedmont Craftsmen Gallery is located at 601 N. Trade St., Winston-Salem.

RedSky Gallery is featuring Alice's new work entitled "Breakout" Mar 25-Apr 21. The exhibit will be in their new location at 1523 Elizabeth Ave, Charlotte.

TPG Stone Soup Coordinator from Donna Kanich

Urban Ministries Stone Soup bowl coordinator is needed. Not hard, just beg and plead, collect the bowls and keep track of how many each person brings for the raffle.

For questions contact Donna Kanich at dkanich@earthlink.net.

Edge Barnes will lead an Aluminum Foil Saggur Fire workshop at Pocosin Arts on April 16 & 17. Edge will give demonstrations and provide participants an opportunity to fire bisqued pots in a bon-fire or primitive kiln setup.

For more information, please contact www.pocosinarts.org and click on the "Studio" button to see the workshops. Edge's info is in the middle of that page.

Emily Lees was juried in as a member of the Orange County Artists Guild. The Guild is a non-profit organization created by a group of diverse artists in the year 2000 to increase the visibility and recognition of area artists and craftspeople. Artists are juried into the guild once annually. The primary project of the guild is the annual Orange County Open Studio Tour, which is held the first two weekends in November.

DONATION REQUEST From Jay Levine

As many of you know a portion of my day job focuses on conducting research focused on the conservation of one of some of the endangered groups of animals on the planet, freshwater mussels and snails.

Every two years the Freshwater Mollusk Conservation Society holds an auction at their biannual conference. Four years ago many of you helped out by providing donations to support the auction and raise money to support graduate students working on these endangered animals. One of the items, a giant snail, became an annual item at the auction, where the winner agrees to hold it for two years and then relinquish it for auction again at the next auction.

Our next meeting is the first week in April and I'm gathering donations to carry to the meeting for the auction. We would great appreciate any items you are willing to donate. In particular, items with an aquatic theme like fish, clams, crayfish and snails do well at the auction.

Please drop off any items that you can donate at the Crafts Center, with note indicating they are for me, and I'll carry them to Louisville with me when I head to the meeting.

Effie Martakis Watson joins a host of talented and creative studio artists in various media at the new Gilded Palette Gallery located at 123 South White Street, Wake Forest, NC, open Monday through Saturday from 10:00 am to 5:00 pm.

Chris Campbell's work is currently on display at the Arts Center in downtown Rocky Mount, NC in an exhibit titled "20 Potters, 20 Teachers". This exhibit is open and runs through May 15, 2011.

Chris also will conduct workshops in various locations as noted below...

SLIPPERY TRAILS

By Joanne Wood

Since there were no submissions for Slippery Trails this month, I offer my recent adventures in clay.

In the winter, my plan is to create Punkin People next to my warm woodstove in my living room since I am not normally very active in my cold basement studio.

I begin by throwing as many closed hollow forms with a "stem" that I want to...and there ends my plan!

The joy in all of this is that I have no knowledge of who will show up

... or why! Many times, these little creations will reflect my mood! (You should see the Grumpy Gus punkin!) Sometimes I start out trying to make something definite, and then suddenly something totally different appears...like when I was working on a Rudolph the Red Nose punkin that my five year old granddaughter had so sweetly requested ...

but when I was about half way done, Sophia the dachshund appeared! Thankfully Natalie is thrilled and still thinks Grandma is pretty cool!

I guess what my rambling leads to is the concept of creativity and the freedom to give in to the unknown. By allowing myself to react to the moment (I don't feel I have much choice in this anyway), I have gotten some real surprises that are fun and satisfying for the most part ... and ultimately, if a Punkin Person makes me smile, I feel I have succeeded!

I will end with this thought... granted, there has to be enough skill to make the punkin shape, but that's all the credit I will take – I leave the rest up to the universe!
